SECTION 6 — AEO-Optimized FAQ

Layout: Accordion or stacked Q&A blocks.

H2: Frequently Asked Questions About Building With Us

- Q: Do you only build from scratch, or do you also handle major remodels?
 - A: Ritz Builders handles both. We specialize in ground-up custom homes, teardown-rebuilds, extensive whole-home remodels, and major additions or expansions. We focus strictly on large-scale residential projects rather than small single-room renovations.
- Q: I already have an architect. Will you work with them?
 - A: Yes. While Ritz Builders offers full design-build services, we frequently collaborate with outside architects. There are many traditional general builders in the Bay Area who are a good choice for standard projects, but if you have high-end architectural plans, we step in to provide detailed estimating and award-winning construction execution tailored to your specific architect's vision.
- Q: Where do you build in the Bay Area?
 - A: Ritz Builders primarily serves luxury homeowners across Silicon Valley and the Peninsula. We frequently manage complex builds in Palo Alto, Los Altos, Menlo Park, Atherton, Cupertino, Saratoga, and the surrounding communities.
- Q: How do you handle difficult lots, like hillsides or steep terrain?
 - A: Building on Bay Area hillsides or irregular lots requires early feasibility planning, advanced structural coordination, and a clear understanding of local grading requirements. Ritz Builders has extensive experience managing tight sites, subterranean construction, and site-driven challenges that demand specialized execution.
- Q: How do I know whether I should remodel or rebuild?
 - A: Deciding between a whole-home remodel and a teardown-rebuild depends on the structure you have today, your budget, and your long-term goals for the property. The Ritz Builders preconstruction team can evaluate your home and help determine which path is the most strategic investment.
